Date of Event: 21th February 2025

Venue: Lecture Theatre (LT-301)

Organized by: Department of Electronics & Instrumentation Engg.

Introduction:

The Electronics & Instrumentation Department of Shri G. S. Institute of Technology & Science, Indore, celebrated Matrabhasha Diwas on 21st February 2025 to promote linguistic diversity and highlight the significance of one's mother tongue. The event aimed to foster unity through cultural and linguistic interactions while raising awareness about the richness of Indian languages.

Program Highlights:

The department organized a series of engaging activities, encouraging both students and faculty members to actively participate. The activities were thoughtfully curated to reflect the importance of linguistic diversity and enhance peer-to-peer connections through multilingual communication.

- Peer-to-Peer Interactions: Students engaged in conversations and group discussions in multiple languages, enhancing their appreciation for linguistic diversity.
 - Skits on Mother Tongue Significance: Thought-provoking skits were performed by students, depicting the historical and emotional importance of preserving and respecting one's native language.
 - Musical Performances: Students showcased songs in various regional languages, promoting musical diversity and cultural expression.
 - Translation Sessions: Participants engaged in live translation exercises, exploring the nuances of different languages and their cultural contexts.
 - Tongue Twister Challenge: A fun and interactive tongue twister session in multiple languages tested participants' pronunciation skills and added an element of enjoyment to the event.
 - Extempore Speeches: Impromptu speeches on topics related to mother tongues encouraged spontaneous expression and linguistic confidence.
 - Quiz Session on Indian Languages: A knowledge-based quiz was conducted, testing participants' awareness of India's linguistic landscape, famous literary works, and historical milestones related to regional languages.

Faculty Participation:

Faculty members played a pivotal role in organizing and facilitating the activities. They actively participated in discussions, provided insights into the historical evolution of languages, and guided students through the various sessions. Their involvement enriched the event with valuable perspectives and academic depth. Dr. Sanchita Dass actively participated and gave a wonderful musical performance..

Conclusion:

The Matrabhasha Diwas celebration at the Electronics & Instrumentation Department, SGSITS, was a resounding success. The event fostered a deep sense of respect for linguistic heritage, strengthened community bonds, and highlighted the beauty of India's diverse languages. The collective enthusiasm of students and faculty members made the day truly memorable, reinforcing the need to preserve and cherish our mother tongues.
